The Website offers the internet user the possibility of reserving the Online Edition:

for the vehicle. In addition, e-mails with additional information about the vehicle will be sent to the address specified at the time of reservation.

The reservation does not constitute an order for a vehicle and therefore in no case constitutes a sales contract or a leasing contract for the vehicle.

The internet user can cancel his/her reservation at any time and is free to place an order or not, as explained below.

3.2 - GENERAL RESERVATION CONDITIONS

Accordingly, the internet user acknowledges and accepts that the reservation is not a binding order and that he/she is free to order the vehicle or not. The reservation therefore does not in any case constitute a purchase obligation or an obligation to sign a leasing contract.

If the Internet user decides to order the vehicle, it is up to him/her to contact the participating Opel dealer of his/her choice who had contacted him/her when the order was placed, in order to place the actual order at this location. It should be noted that Opel XXX is not directly involved in the ordering process.
